

NEIGHBORS HELPING NATIONS

VOLUNTEERS MAKE IT HAPPEN

Every week, local volunteers show up ready to serve—not just their own communities, but people around the world. Whether it's sorting supplies, testing equipment, or loading shipments, these generous neighbors are the engine behind everything we do.

This summer, their hard work has already helped launch major shipments to Ukraine and Papua New Guinea, while preparing smaller ones for Kenya, Nigeria, and Nairobi. The ripple effects of their time and energy stretch far beyond Idaho—they're bringing comfort and care to those most in need.

To our incredible volunteers: your efforts are saving lives. Thank you for showing the world what compassion looks like in action.

THANK YOU

To our incredible donors and volunteers—thank you. Every box packed, every item donated, and every hour served plays a part in delivering life-changing medical supplies to people around the world.

Your compassion fuels our mission. Because of you, communities in crisis have received essential equipment. Because of you, families facing hardship have found relief. We truly couldn't do this without your generosity, dedication, and belief in what we do.

From all of us at Hands of Hope Northwest—thank you for being the heart of hope.

FILLING THE GAPS LOCALLY

While we're known for sending medical supplies around the globe, we never lose sight of the needs right here in our own backyard. So far this year, nearly $200,000 worth of equipment and supplies have gone to support shelters, clinics, hospitals, and schools—mainly here in Idaho.

Thanks to your donations, families in Idaho now have access to walkers, bath chairs, canes, and other essential items that restore dignity and mobility. Students with physical challenges are equipped to learn. Veterans are receiving the care and respect they deserve. Your generosity has made it possible for small towns and underserved communities to receive the tools they need to thrive.

Helping nations begins by showing up for our neighbors—and you're doing both. Thank you for being a vital part of this mission to serve both locally and globally.

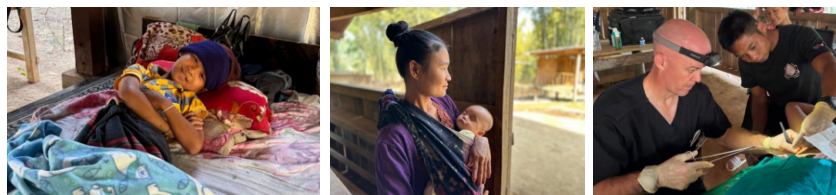

IDAHO TO HONDURAS

This spring, a surgical mission team traveled to the Saint Benedict Joseph Medical Center in Comayagua, Honduras—and what they accomplished was nothing short of extraordinary. In just one trip, they provided 98 patients with life-changing, free surgeries—restoring health, hope, and dignity to individuals who may not otherwise have had access to care.

We were honored to play a role in this mission by providing vital medical supplies. In a heartfelt message from the team, they shared, “We were able to bless 98 patients with free life-changing surgeries. Hands of Hope Northwest played a crucial role in helping our team acquire the necessary supplies. We were so blessed by your team and the generous donation! Thank you, thank you, thank you!”

This story is a powerful reminder of why we do what we do. Your donations—whether medical supplies, financial gifts, or volunteered time—create ripples of healing that reach far beyond our local community. From Idaho to Honduras and beyond, you are part of a global movement of compassion.

IDAHO TO BURMA (MYANMAR)

Even in the most uncertain and dangerous conditions, hope finds a way forward. That was the case recently in Burma (Myanmar), where political unrest, violence, and natural disasters have left communities without access to even basic medical care. Amid this humanitarian crisis, a team of courageous volunteers from the Four Winds Professional Guild set out to provide relief where it was needed most.

Thanks to your continued support, Hands of Hope Northwest was able to equip this team with critical medical supplies before they began their journey. What they accomplished with those resources was nothing short of incredible.

Over 100 individuals received life-saving medical care—often in improvised conditions. Surgeries and checkups weren’t done in traditional hospitals, but in sheds, caves, and wherever shelter could be found, all under the looming threat of earthquakes and ongoing unrest. Yet with limited tools, a deep sense of purpose, and the right supplies in hand, these volunteers were able to deliver comfort and healing to people who had gone far too long without it.

Their mission reflects the power of compassion, commitment, and community—and it’s your generosity that makes it possible.

Because of you, people in crisis are being reminded that they are seen, valued, and cared for. Your support doesn’t just send supplies—it sends dignity, relief, and strength to those who need it most. Together, we are reaching places others can’t, and showing up when it matters most.
